

GERMAN NEWS SERVICE

Delivered by DW & dpa

Your reliable and free
source of information from and about Germany

Reliability: Commitment to accuracy and objectivity makes GNS a trustworthy news source

Deutsche Welle (DW)

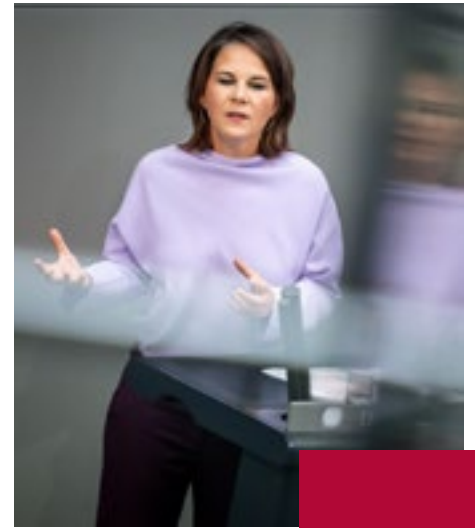

established in 1953, is Germany's international broadcaster, advocating for global freedom of opinion through unbiased news and information. With a weekly audience exceeding 320 million across TV, online and radio platforms, DW provides diverse perspectives, enriching the detailed and reliable reporting of its partner, Deutsche Presse-Agentur (dpa).

Deutsche Presse-Agentur (dpa)

founded in 1949, boasts a long-standing reputation for reliable and accurate news coverage. Leveraging its global network of correspondents, dpa ensures comprehensive reporting on significant events, providing well-informed audiences with balanced reporting and insightful analysis.

German News Service (GNS), is a collaborative effort between DW and dpa, embodying their shared dedication to delivering independent, trustworthy and high-quality information. Established as a reliable and free resource, this service supports the efforts of journalists, media organizations, NGOs and various other institutions in providing comprehensive news coverage.

German and European perspectives, available in eight languages

What GNS users have to say:

“ Useful to get news and information about current affairs and news in Germany and to get a Germany-based perspective on wider global events.

“ The range of topics covered is very comprehensive and I find the length of the articles perfect.

“ I love the idea of getting access to news from a German perspective and from a reliable source.

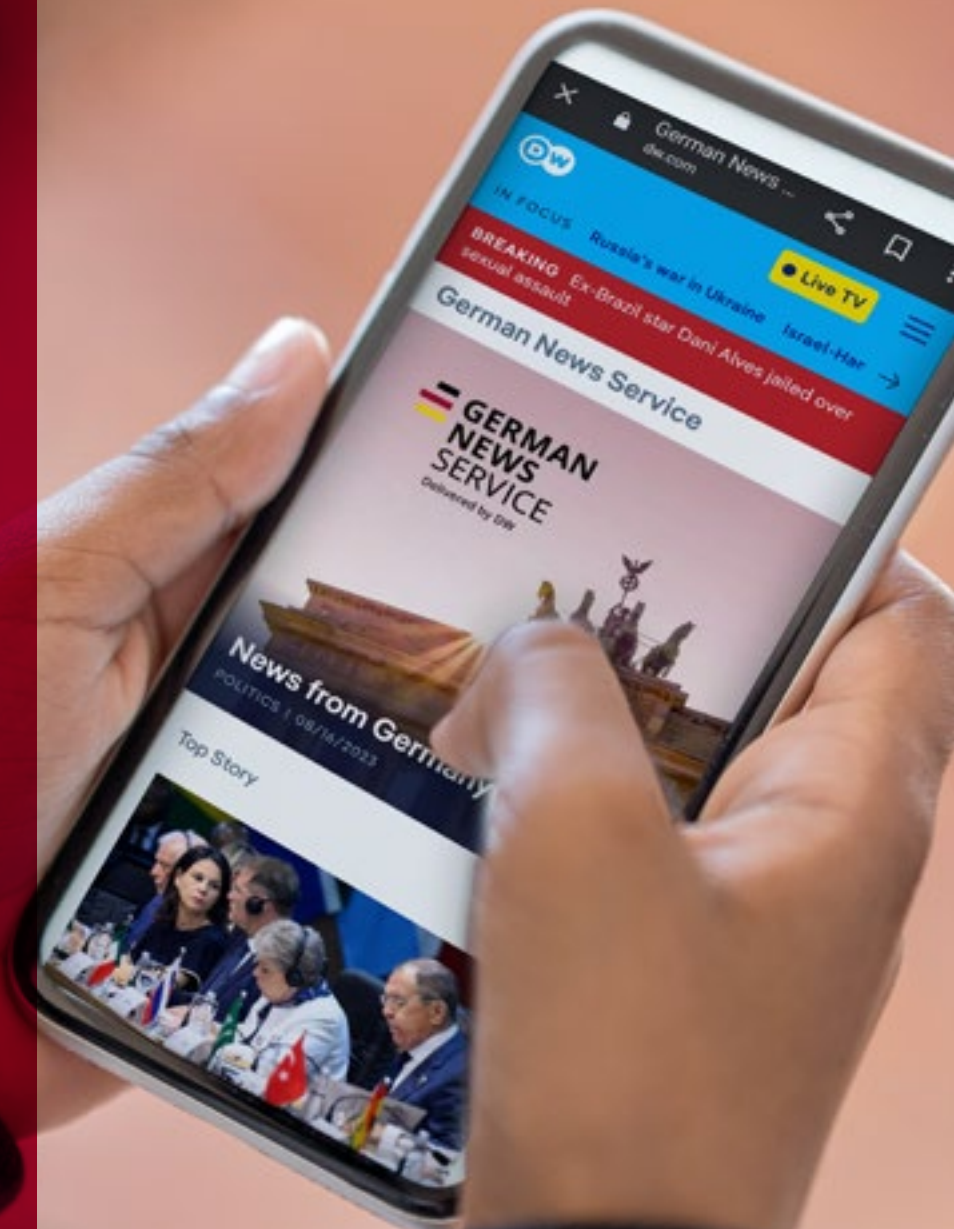

The service consists of two parts, from two different sources
